Blockaded Reds Ask U.S. Guards For Water

Still Refuse To Go Back To Russia

Frankfurt, Germany, March 2—(AP)—A plea for water came tonight from the Russian repatriation mission, blockaded here by U. S. military police because it rejected Gen. Lucius D. Clay's order to leave.

In Berlin Soviet Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky denounced the blockade as "shameless police operations."

His statement did not disclose whether the eight-man repatriation mission would be ordered to leave Frankfurt.

Plea Made By Colonel

A plea for water was made when a Soviet colonel, not a member of the mission, was allowed to visit the besieged mission headquarters with Col. Sterling Wood, Frankfurt provost marshal, and an American interpreter.

Water lines of the mission were cut this morning, along with electric, telephone and gas service. The house was in darkness, lit only by the rays of a flashlight.

Asked whether the Russian plea for water would be granted, Wood told reporters:

"My orders were that the water be shut off. They have not been changed."

Wood said the mission members were sitting together, singing Russian folk songs, when the party entered. He said no new proposals were advanced by either side, except that the Russians asked for water.

Reminds Wood Of Request

The Russian colonel's last word to Wood, as they parted on the sidewalk outside the building were:

"I wish to remind you again of our request for water."

Then he shook hands with Wood and saluted smartly.

The red flag of the Soviet Union flew over the headquarters. The Russian government has denounced Clay's order for withdrawal of the mission as a violation of Yalta and Potsdam agreements on the handling of displaced persons. Clay asked it to get out of the U. S. zone by March 1 on grounds there was little for it to do.

U. S. military police cracked down today.

Military police, armed with rifles, patrolled the snow covered grounds of the three-story yellow stucco building in the center of Frankfurt's American community.

Their orders were to seal off the Russians—four officers and four enlisted men—from outside contacts. They did.

Seige Might Be Long

But it looked like the bloodless siege might be a long one.

German servants working in the vicinity said the Russians had stocked their building heavily with food in the past few days. Whether the Russians thought to fill their bathtubs with water was not learned. But an American officer estimated they might be able to hold out a month.

The mission's job was to handle the return of displaced persons wanting to go back to Russia. Few have chosen to return in the past years. The Russians have had lots of time for other pursuits. Gen. Clay, in ordering the mission closed, said the Soviet military mission here could take over the repatriation work. The Kremlin demanded that the order be rescinded, but it wasn't.

The mission members, headed by Col. Vasily L. Argonov, said yesterday they would be classed as deserters if they left their post without orders from the Soviet command in Berlin.

Members of the mission appeared at the windows of the house this morning after singing a few Russian folk songs. They took pictures of the military police, reporters, photographers and onlookers outside, but dodged back when photographers aimed cameras at them.

Acheson States Major Issues Of Pact Settled

Washington, March 2—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson indicated today that all major issues involved in writing the North Atlantic security treaty have been settled.

The seven countries drafting the pact, however, have not yet determined what other nations should be brought in as original signers, he disclosed. The question of inviting Italy is receiving especially careful study.

Late today American officials were cheered by a news dispatch from Copenhagen saying diplomatic informants predicted that Denmark may decide tomorrow to join in the talks.

Acheson told a news conference that he did not know of any outstanding differences of the text of the treaty. He expects to meet with the ambassadors of Britain, France, Canada, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg tomorrow and possibly again early next week to try to wind up details of drafting.

The treaty would commit the United States and all other member nations to resist an attack against any one of them, but each country would decide what steps it would take in fulfilling the commitment.

Acheson said he hopes to make the text public before it is signed. Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate foreign relations committee had declared earlier that it should not be made public until after signing.

While not commenting directly on Connally's view, Acheson said that before the text was released it would have to be agreed to by all the countries involved. He thereby appeared to rule out the probability of some unforeseen issue coming up.

On the question of Italy, Acheson declined to go into any detail. The ambassadors and he have been discussing the possibility of other nations joining in the project, he said, and the Italian matter is still under discussion. Nations which appear reasonably sure of early invitations are Norway and Denmark and probably Iceland and Portugal.

The statement by Acheson today will seek permission to reorganize under federal court supervision.

The announcement came after District Judge Michael L. Igoe told reporters that lawyers from the automobile firm had visited him yesterday to discuss the proposal.

No details of the proposed reorganization were announced.

However, the corporation's attorneys are to appear before Judge Igoe tomorrow when an injunction to prevent the prosecution of two bankruptcy suits and a suit seeking receivership will lapse.

In a prepared statement quoting A. A. Michels of St. Louis, one of the Tucker directors, the corporation's board said it plans to file a petition for reorganization with the federal court providing for appointment by the court of a trustee or trustees.

"Our primary aim now," Michels said, "is to secure the mechanical and manufacturing accomplishments and to go forward with a new program which we hope will secure additional working funds."

U.S. Reserve Board Relaxes Controls On Credit Buying

Washington, March 2—(AP)—The Federal Reserve Board tonight relaxed installment credit controls, effective next Monday, making it easier to buy products on time.

The chief change allows 21 months to pay off the credit balance due after a cash payment. The time limit in force now is 18 months where the credit amount is more than $1,000, or 15 months when it is less.

The 21-month pay off limit applies to all items affected by the controls—automobiles, refrigerators, radios and television sets, washing machines, furniture and other household appliances valued above $50.

The cash down payment for automobiles will remain one third of the price. For all other controlled goods, however, it will be reduced to 15 per cent from the present 20 per cent.

The statement by the board tonight said that the relaxation of controls was made to help the economy during the present period of expansion.

The board also announced that it would continue to study the effects of the relaxation of controls on the economy.

U.S. Red Leaders Say They Would Oppose Next War

New York, March 2—(AP)—American Communist leaders said today that "if, despite the efforts of the peace forces of America and the world, Wall Street should succeed in plunging the world into war, we would oppose it."

The statement by the National Committee for American-Soviet Friendship and General Secretary Eugene Dennis said American Communists would oppose such a war, "for an unjust, aggressive imperialist war."

They said Communists here would "cooperate with all democratic forces to defeat the predatory war aims of American imperialism and bring to a speedy conclusion on the basis of a democratic peace."

Communists generally refer to Communist-led states, including Russia, as "people's democracies."

The statement came after the Communist leaders were asked to comment on recent remarks by Communist leaders Maurice Thorez, of France, and Palmiro Togliatti, of Italy.

Truman Calls For Quick Decision In Southern Filibuster In Senate

Washington, March 2—(AP)—President Truman called for a quick decision in the three-day-old filibuster in the Senate today, but there was no sign of the talkers' giving out.

Administration cries of "shame" only spurred southern orators in their fight against a Truman-backed proposal under which Senate would be cut short any time two-thirds of those present so vote.

The southerners assailed this as a preliminary move to "crucify" the south with civil rights bills.

The Dixie bloc, originally 22 strong, actually gained strength as the debate went on.

Senator Langer, North Dakota Republican, announced that he will vote against the proposed debate curb. Langer explained that he fears small states and minorities would be damaged by limiting debate.

President Truman, closely following developments, showed a keen interest in the Senate battle over the curb-the-filibuster proposal.

The southerners stuck to their guns, gaining fresh cheer from a revision of earlier administration plans to force a test of strength tomorrow.

In a change of tactics, Senate majority leader Lucas (D-Ill) told reporters he will not circulate or file a censure (debate limiting) petition tomorrow as originally contemplated.

Such a petition, signed by 42 senators, would call for Vice President Barkley, the Senate presiding officer, to rule whether such a move is acceptable.

He referred to the fact all 15 had made public confessions in court, amplifying on depositions obtained from them while they were prisoners for three months of the communist-controlled security police.

Prosecution witnesses testified against the chief defendants and then spent most of their time attacking American church foreign missions. They charged that these missions had given money to the Bulgarian Protestants in pay for espionage under the guise of genuine church aid.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 2—Michigan's legislature defeated a capital punishment proposal today even as state officials took preliminary steps that may send two convicted "Lonely Hearts" killers to death in New York's electric chair.

Accused of at least three slayings are dark, slight Raymond Martinez Fernandez, 34-year-old Hawaiian-born Spaniard, and Mrs. Martha Beck, 29, hefty, thrice-married divorcee.

Kent county prosecutor Roger C. McMahon said the pair freely admitted murdering and shooting to death Mrs. Delphine Downing, 29, a widow, and drowning her 21-month-old daughter, Rainelle.

They also confessed, he said, slugging and strangling a Mrs. Janet Fay near New York City in January.

Police charged that the slayings occurred as Fernandez and Mrs. Beck preyed on women who joined lonely hearts correspondence clubs.

EXPANDED SOCIAL SECURITY PLAN
GIVES MEANING TO "SECURITY"

The long-promised and long-delayed plan to revise and extend the social security program has finally been put into action. The two bills which have been introduced in the House of Representatives embody President Truman's program. But actually the basic idea is not a partisan matter. It was included among the pledges of both major parties in their 1948 platforms.

What this new program actually does is give some meaning to the second word in the phrase, "social security." It removes the occupational penalties that the present law imposes. And it does these things at a bearable cost.

Today a single person or couple over 65 can scarcely hope to get along on old-age insurance benefits alone. The maximum payment is $85 a month, and the beneficiary may earn only $14.99 in addition without losing the benefit. The proposed law would double this total amount by raising the maximum payment to $150 and permitting $50 a month in earnings. That isn't luxury, but it promises reasonable comfort.

Most retired persons or couples would not get the maximum payment, of course. Yet for those who received that amount or something near it, some dignity and independence would accrue to old age even without other savings. This is not possible under the present social security law except at a drastic reduction in living standards.

While the President's proposal does offer a measure of comfort for some, it is not so lavish a bounty as to eliminate the incentive for private saving. It strikes a balance between the present inadequacy and the element of risk which is necessary to the progress of a dynamic society based on private ownership. It is neither state socialism nor state neglect.

The broadened base of social security in the new bills would end some unjust discrimination. It would restore 2,000,000 persons removed from the social security rolls by the last Congress, and include 20,000,000 others for the first time.

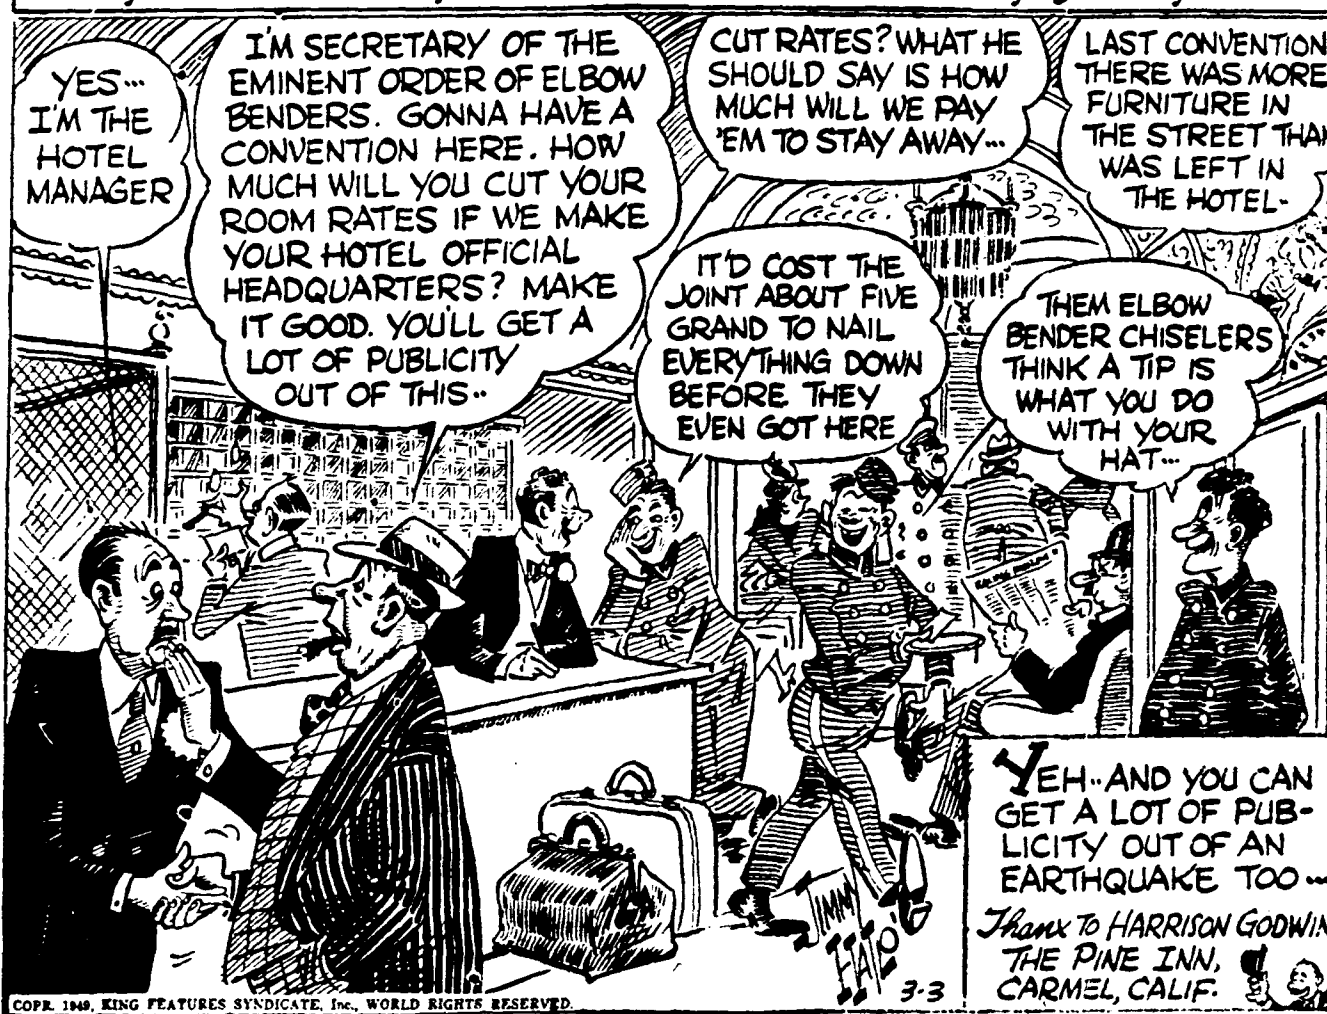

The new eligibles include the self-employed—such as farmers, professional men and proprietors of small businesses—, farm workers, domestics, employees of non-profit organizations, and various federal, state and local government workers not presently covered under a retirement plan.

This would not only correct an inequity. It would also increase the mobility of the country's working force. This is desirable both for the individual and the national economy. A person could then change jobs or go into business for himself without having to consider the possible loss of his past social security payments or the absence of retirement payments in the uncertain future.

Since both parties in Congress seem agreed on the fundamental goals of a new social security law, any drastic change before its passage is unlikely. The country may well be thankful for this bipartisan domestic policy and for the benefits which it promises to secure.

School Children To Get Dental Treatment

Many children from the second, fifth and eighth grades in all of the grade school in the city will receive the new sodium fluoride treatment to prevent dental decay.

The new treatment, while it will not stop decay already in progress, is, in a large percentage of cases, a most effective means of preventing the occurrence of dental decay.

The treatments are being given locally under the auspices of the Morgan County Dental Society which has arranged for a federal dental team to administer the treatment in Jacksonville over a four week period.

The treatments are administered only with the consent of parents of pupils.

The team is comprised of two dentists, two dental hygienists and a clerk. They are applying sodium fluoride in a series of four treatments, with from three to seven days elapsing between each treatment.

The work is being done in the office of the county nurse, Ethel Swanson, in the Josephine Milligan school building.

Points To Remember In Filing Tax Return

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles on who has to do what about his 1948 income tax return, for the deadline is March 15.)

BY JAMES MARLOW

Washington, March 1—If you're married, remember these points about filing your 1948 income tax return:

In every case where the wife (or husband) had no income, married couples will never lose money by filing a joint return. In many cases they will save money.

22.95 silk and wool dresses 10.00.
EMPORIUM

And in most cases where both have income they'll save by filing a joint return. Why?

Because of the new law which congress passed last year to cut taxes and give married couples a break. They can split their income as if each were claiming half.

10% Deduction Is Automatic
Married couples—whose income was under $5,000 and whose deductible expenses don't amount to more than 10 per cent of their income—have no problem in filing Form 1040A or the 1040 short-form.

With both forms a deduction of 10 per cent already is taken care of in the tax table used with those forms. So a couple using them doesn't even have to claim that deduction of 10 per cent. It's given without asking.

An automatic 10 per cent deduction like that is a generous allowance. Most people's deductible expenses don't run that high. But—

If your income was under $5,000 but your deductions run more than 10 per cent, you'll lose money by filing on Form 1040A or the 1040 short-form. Use, instead, the 1040 long-form.

Can't Exceed 15% of Income
There you'll have to itemize your deductions, but you can claim them. Remember, though, that part of your deductible expenses which is made up of contributions can't run more than 15 per cent of your income.

If a wife or husband, for any reason, uses the long-form to itemize deductions, the other partner must use it, too, and itemize.

Couples with $5,000 or more income, using the long-form, are allowed a deduction of 10 per cent up to a limit of $1,000 in such deductions. This is a standard deduction for them. It doesn't require itemizing. (Example: Adams had $5,000 income. He and his wife, filing jointly, although the wife had no income at all, get a deduction of $950.)

But—if the wife had no income and doesn't file jointly with her husband—in the case of a $5,000 or more income couple—he gets a standard deduction of only $500. So they lose by not filing jointly.

Where a husband and wife, with income of $5,000 or more, file separately, each is allowed a standard deduction of only $500.

Get Benefit of "Split" Tax
A couple married anytime in 1948 even on Dec. 31—can file a joint return on their income for all of 1948, thus getting the benefit of the lower "split" income tax on married couples.

Suppose you're filing a return and your wife (or husband) died during 1948. You can file a joint return (attaching a note pointing out the death) and claim the usual $600 exemption for her, even though she died Jan. 1, 1948.

Couples divorced or legally separated at the end of 1948 must file separate returns. Each then gets one exemption. And even if a husband paid all the support of a divorced or legally separated wife he can't get an exemption for her.

A husband and wife living apart by Dec. 31, 1948, but not divorced or legally separated, can file a joint return.

On the question—can I deduct for alimony—you'd better ask a tax expert's advice that fits your case because the answer varies.

$600 Exemption For Each
Anyone filing a return gets a $600 exemption for himself, plus $600 if he's blind, plus $600 if he has reached 65 on Dec. 31, 1948.

And if he's claiming an exemption for his wife, he gets the usual $600 for her, plus $600 if she's blind, plus $600 if she's over 65.

Remember: a wife is not classified as a dependent. She's entitled to an exemption of $600 if she had no income and her husband files a return, claiming her exemption, or, if—

She had income and files jointly with her husband. In that case, each gets an exemption of $600 on the same return. But if—

The wife had any income—even as small as $1—no exemption can be claimed for her unless she files her own return, separately, or jointly with her husband.

The pay of enlisted men and non-commissioned officers in the armed services is tax-free. So those who had no other income don't file a return.

Havana Tests Show Wild Ducks Eat Shot

Urbana, Ill.—A diet consisting of a high percentage of corn may be a contributing factor in the death of wild ducks suffering from lead poisoning according to a progress report on an experiment being conducted at the Illinois Natural History Survey field laboratory north of Havana. Previous studies by the Natural History Survey indicate that as much as 70 per cent of the autumn diet of mallards migrating through Illinois consists of corn.

More than 500 ducks—Pekins, domestic mallards, and wild mallards—have been under observation in the experimental set up eight months ago at the Havana laboratory, which is equipped with fluoroscope, X-ray machine, and other modern devices for studying lead poisoning in waterfowl. Object of the experimental is to find ways of reducing losses from lead poisoning contracted by wild ducks which, in their feeding, pick up lead pellets from areas heavily shot by hunters.

Corn and Shot Diet
In the experiment, domestic Pekin ducks dosed with as many as 25 No. 4 lead pellets failed to die when fed on a balanced diet. But Pekins given the same lead dose and fed on corn died within a few days. Dr.

Workers In Red Cross Campaign Attend Breakfast

About 30 workers in the 1949 American Red Cross fund campaign were present at the kick-off breakfast held Tuesday at the Dunlap hotel.

Besides the local division chairman, workers representing MacMurray college were also in attendance. Two township chairmen were present, Mrs. Jean Scott of Franklin and Mrs. Louise Ommen of Mur-rayville.

The meeting was presided over by Robert E. Spink, campaign chairman. He distributed the material kits to the various division chairmen, who will in turn deliver them to their workers.

Mr. Spink introduced the main speaker, Robert A. DuBois, former chairman of the local Red Cross chapter. Mr. DuBois stressed the fact that the public donates not to the Red Cross, but through the Red Cross. He spoke of the numerous ways in which the Red Cross has helped and is continuing to help servicemen, ex-servicemen and families of both, as well as playing an important part in disaster relief.

SOVIET MUSIC STILL ASSAILED

Moscow—(P)—Soviet youth is not responding as correctly as it should to the call for more and better music writing, says B. Yarusovsky, writing in Izvestia. He says progress undoubtedly has been made and cites Arutyunyan's "Cantata of the Motherland," and "Symphonietta" by Vainberg.

At a recent students' concert devoted to the Eleventh Congress of the Komsomols, he says, there were too few works linked with the characters and feeling of Soviet youth.

Program On Furs Presented At Club Meeting Tuesday

"The Romance of Furs," as outlined by Mrs. T. U. Smirl, was the highlight of the meeting of the Tuesday club, held at the home of Mrs. Robert Reid.

Mrs. Smirl traced the development of the fur industry from the age of the cave man, the world's first manufacturer and dresser of hides, to the present day. She gave the history of the Alaskan seal, from its discovery, through the years of the preservation program, to the conservation program of today.

In speaking of beavers, Mrs. Smirl told of the part the beaver industry has played in American history, the use of beaver pelts and money, and the present practice of the taking of beavers by the State Games and Conservation commission.

She also described A. Hollander and Son, Inc., in Newark, N. J., where more than 10,000,000 muskrats alone are handled in a year's work. She also spoke of the chinchilla industry.

Preceding the program, a brief business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. C. R. Gibson, who announced the appointment of Mrs. Harry Kitter, Mrs. J. D. Bunting and Mrs. Alfred J. Henderson as the program committee for the coming year.

During the social period, refreshments were served by Mrs. E. A. Nelson and Mrs. Robert Reid.

CROSS COUNTRY CLUB HAS THEATER PARTY

Members of the Cross Country club enjoyed a theater party for the club members and their families, with Mrs. Frances Burrus and Mrs. Marie Burrus serving as hostesses.

After the show the group lunched at the Jay-Cee restaurant. A short business meeting was held and the members received their new program books for the ensuing year. "Mystery Pals" for the coming year were also drawn by the club.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ruth Burmeister on March 16.

Important Tax Issues To Be Up For Debate

Debate on vital tax issues currently facing the general assembly will take place Thursday night at Springfield before a town meeting of all taxpayers within the 45th Senatorial district, composed of Morgan and Sangamon counties.

Ralph Cipolla, field representative of the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois, warned that tax legislation which is passed today will be the tax bill which we will pay tomorrow. Each member of the audience will have a chance to express his own personal opinion on 10 tax problems. Both sides of each problem will be argued by staff members of the federation. Open discussion from the floor will take place to be followed by balloting.

Cipolla has been telling Morgan county taxpayers about the taxpayers town meeting. It will take place Thursday night, March 3, in Springfield at the Centennial building.

"The research staff of the Taxpayers' Federation already knows of more than 150 different tax propositions affecting the taxpayer's pocket book which are certain to be considered by our general assembly now in session," Cipolla said. "Many of these tax matters will directly affect the local tax bill. Taxpayers in Morgan county have this opportunity to let their senator and representatives know how they feel on these tax matters."

Local Man Moderator
John T. Hackett, president of the Morgan County Taxpayers' Association, who is acting as moderator of the meeting, urged all taxpayers to make a special effort to attend. He pointed out, "This is an opportunity for we taxpayers to express our opinion on important tax problems before they become tax law." He explained that the Taxpayers' Federation, in cooperation with local taxpayers' organizations, is holding a series of these taxpayers town meetings all over the state. In all there will be 20 meetings, each one in a different senatorial district. This one in Springfield is the 11th one in the series.

State Senator D. Logan Giffin and Representatives G. William Horsley, T. J. Sullivan and Hugh Green will be present to hear what the taxpayers of the 45th Senatorial district will have to say.

All those who would like to attend this meeting but who do not have a ride to Springfield, are invited to telephone the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce, phone No. 10.

New World Opens To Displaced Family In Morgan Wednesday

By BIRCH B. RIDGWAY

When Mr. and Mrs. Fris Kezbers and family sat down to breakfast Wednesday morning at their new home on West Walnut street, the food didn't look familiar. The bread was white instead of black. There was food enough to go around, plenty to satisfy both Mr. and Mrs. Kezbers and their three children.

This situation was new to the Kezbers family. They arrived only Tuesday afternoon from Europe. Morgan county's first Displaced Persons family set up housekeeping Wednesday in a comfortable house owned by Dr. A. B. Applebee, a short distance from the Applebee Farms on W. Walnut street.

The Kezbers, natives of Latvia, from which they were herded into a work camp by the Germans, are practically in a new world. All they have known for the last several years is hardship. Now they are on the threshold of a strange new life—they will eat American food, wear American clothing, and the children will attend American schools when they are old enough to enroll.

Man Speaks Fair English
Kezbers, 35 years old Wednesday, is a light-complexioned, wiry fellow, who speaks fairly good English. As he and his family accompanied Dr. Applebee here by automobile from New York City, where they landed Sunday with 900 other displaced persons, Kezbers marveled at the expanse of the United States. They passed through six states, a greater distance than is encompassed by a series of European countries.

The Kezbers became residents of Jacksonville through the work of the Church World Service, Inc., and the interest of Dr. and Mrs. Applebee, who signed as their sponsors in this country. Dr. Applebee agreed to furnish Kezbers with employment and to assist the family in becoming Americanized.

Society Donates Furniture
Expressing interest in the coming of a displaced family, the first in the Jacksonville community, the Women's Society of Christian Service of Grace Methodist church gathered a number of articles of household furniture and utensils for the Kezbers home. They will not suffer from lack of friends or sympathetic assistance in becoming accustomed to life in America.

Mr. and Mrs. Kezbers were born and reared in Latvia, a progressive little democracy before the war. Eighty per cent of the pre-war population was engaged in agriculture.

The Germans overran Latvia, seizing towns and farms and forcing many persons into work camps. The Kezbers were forced to walk 100 miles. They were given only one bowl of soup and black bread each day. Kezbers told his new American benefactors. The Kezbers were among 700 Latvians who were forced to work in one camp. He was forced to help build highways for German armies.

Kezbers told Dr. Applebee and Robert Powers, who met him in New York, that he lost 35 pounds within a few weeks after going to the German work camp.

Have Been In Germany
At the end of the war, Kezbers and his family were transferred to the American sector in Germany where life was not quite so hard, but food and other necessities were scarce. They did not want to return to Latvia, which is now under domination of the Communists.

While in the American occupation zone Kezbers worked as a truck driver and also served as a policeman.

Mr. and Mrs. Kezbers are members of the Lutheran faith. They were selected by the Church World Service, Inc., as worthy of assistance and qualified to become good American citizens.

Their voyage to this country on the USS Marine Tiger required 12 days. They were met at the dock Sunday morning by Dr. Applebee and Powers.

The children are Dace, 5; Marite, 4; and Ziedonia, 1 year old.

Mr. Kezbers worked as a farmer in Latvia for a number of years. He will be employed in general farm work at Applebee Farms.

Wabash Soybeans Thought Suitable For Greene County

A new soybean variety for southern Illinois, named Wabash, is being introduced this year for seed increase. Wabash will replace Chief, Patoka and Gibson, the main varieties now grown in southern Illinois. Illinois College of Agriculture agronomists believe.

Wabash is recommended south of a line through Paris, Taylorville, and the northern boundary of Greene county. It should be planted before May 25 in the northern third of this area if wheat is to follow in the rotation. Lincoln or Hawkeye varieties are recommended for late June and July planting.

Some 4,000 bushels of seed, almost the entire present supply, have already been promised to various farmers through county seed distribution committees to increase seed supplies. Wabash seed is expected to be generally available in 1950.

Wabash yields better than these older varieties, from one to five bushels more per acre. It also matures earlier, four or five days before Chief, Patoka, and Gibson.

In addition, Wabash has higher oil content, better seed quality, and better standing ability. The lower pods of Wabash are usually well above ground level, reducing combining losses, and it is erect and compact in growth.

As for diseases, Wabash appears more free from bacterial leaf blight than Gibson and has less downy mildew than Patoka.

These advantages of Wabash showed up in 24 tests made from 1944 to 1948 in Champaign, Adams, Christian, Effingham, St. Clair and Saline counties.

Wabash was developed jointly by Midwest agricultural experiment stations and the U. S. Regional Soybean laboratory at Urbana. Dr. C. M. Woodworth, University of Illinois agronomist, made the original cross to produce the new variety in 1935.
